THAT ATLANTA CASE.

VOL. XXVI.

The Interstate Commission Will Fight It to the End.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN WASHINGTON Some Figures Showing Interesting

Facts About the Treasury. THE WEATHER BUREAU TO BE PRACTICAL

Secretary Morton Says It Shall Be Runjo Common Sense Lines-Congressman Wilson on the Extra Session.

Washington, July 11 .- (Special.)-The appeal which has been taken by the interstate commerce commission from the recent de-cision of the United States district court for the northern district of Georgia will be sharply contested, as it involves the integrity of the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act.

The Georgia case involved first-class rates from Cincinnati to Atlanta, Augusta and Social Circle in Georgia. The shippers con-tended that the rate to Social Circle should not be higher than that to Augusta, but the court held that there was a through rate to Augusta and that the rate to Social Circle was properly fixed by the railroads by adding the local rate from Atlanta to the through rate from Cincinnati to Atlanta. The decision of the court leaves all the railroads full power to make such discriminations if they declare in one case that they have a joint rate and in the other that they have no joint rate. The interstate commerce commission pro oses to fight this decision if necessary in the circuit court of appeals, the supreme court and the two houses of congress.

The circuit court of appeals is likely to render a decision this autumn and if it is dverse to the commission a prompt appeal will be taken to the supreme court on questions of law. If the supreme court sustains the lower courts it will be necessary to seek new legislation from congress. This was atsame sort a year or two ago and a bill was introduced defining a line to mean: "A physical line whether one railroad or two or more connecting roads, or part railroad and part water, under common control, manage-ment and arrangement for a continuous shipment." A bill containing this provision passed the house, but was delayed in the senate because of other features to which certain senators objected. The interstate commerce commission wil probably draw such a bill again, and recommend its passage in their annual report to congress in Decem-

There was but one response to Acting Director Preston's counter proposition to the silver brokers yesterday and that was limited to an offer of 100,000 ounces of silver at 71 1-2 cents per ounce. This came from New York by telegraph after the close of the office yesterday, and was promptly accepted. Tomorrow another effort will be ade to secure more silver and as the price in London this morning was up 1-8d to 33 1-8, it may be that the department will have to pay more than 71 1-2 if it decides to buy at all. It is stated that the purpose of the acting director of the mint just now to secure steady quotations rather than to affect the market one way or another, and when the quotations have become stead-ier it is probable that the purchases of silver will be resumed in larger amounts.

Weather Bureau Affairs. The atmosphere about the weather bureau has cleared off very perceptibly since the recent investigation and affairs are running along smoothly with but little probability of any further changes being made in the near

The position of chief of the weather bureau, Secretary Morton looks upon as one entirely without the pale of politics and so far as he knows Professor Harrington will remain. This bureau is one in which Secretary Morton has taken a lively interest and he said today that it was his wish to make it popular; remove it from the rather high scientific plane to which it had gradwork. In fact he will insist upon suc-cessful forecasts so that the farmer, the

"What the people most want," said Secre-tary Morton, "is the knowledge beforehand the cause and effect after all is over."

In addition to cutting off a number of what he calls "useless scientists," Secretary Morton proposes to save money in the matter of secretary's discussion of the scientific force of the weather bureau. The real object of July 1st. the bureau, he says, is to state with certainty what the weather will be tomorrow or the next day. Secretary Morton has also decided to discontinue the river and flood toom work, and at an early date place the river forecast in charge of the observers located on the principal rives. As a result of located on the principal rives. As a result of all this, Messrs. Carl Barus, H. G. Bigelow and Thomas Russell, professors of meteorology, will be dropped from the rolls this month, along with a number of clerks and other employes. In his forthcoming report, Secretary Morton will make two important recommendations, contemplating changes in the method of doing some work in the department of agriculture. One relates to the indiscriminate distribution of lates to the indiscriminate distribution of garden seed and the other to duplications of experiments by state stations of work how being done by the department. The latter relates to sorghum and irrigation experi-ments and his recommendation will be in favor of a cessation of this unnecessary and favor of a cessation of this unnecessary and wasteful expenditure of the public money.

He added that he had had no intimation on the subject other than that he had read in the newspapers. He further said there would be no opposition to the re-election of Mr Crisp as speaker so far as he knew, and that he believed that the majority of the people of West Virginia were in favor of the repeal of the Sherman law.

Three Georgians on the List.

Besides the large number of persons who have been "spoken of" as candidates for assistant secretary of agriculture, there is on file in this department the personal applications of twenty-seven people, among them one woman. Secretary Morton is of the opinion that nothing will be done in the matter of filing the place until the president retarns from his vacation and possibly not longressman Wilson on the Extra Session Representative W. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, who presided over the Chicago conention and who is recognized as one of the probable leaders in the next congress, arived in this city today. Questioned as to the probable outcome of the extra session, Mr. Wilson said:

"It has always been my belief that the extra session will be continuous and no recess can be taken. Under any circum-stances, however, the tariff question will be considered. As soon as the ways and means is announced the tariff will be taken up by them, and even should there be a recess before the regular session in De cember, the committee will continue to have meetings for the consideration of the tariff.

"I have never known of any one refusing But I will say that the chairman of that committee during the next congress will not have his honors without his labors." Postoffices in Georgia.

Does Not Expect to Be Appointed. Secretary Gresham says he has no idea of being appointed on the supreme bench. The Constitution correspondent called on Mr. Gresham today and asked him the pointed question: "Do you expect to succeed

"I certainly do not," said the secretary. There has been considerable talk in Washthat Secretary Gresham be appointed to the bench during this administration, but positive assertion seems to preclude the iden of his succeeding the dead jurist. It is very likely that if Chief Justice Field resigns during 1894, as his present intention, Mr. Gresham will be appointed in his place,

The Treasury Statement.

A statement issued from the treasury department shows that the net gold in the treasury at the end of June last was $95,-485,413, which was more than the total at the end of either of the two months preceding. In the ten days from June 30th to July 10th, the gold holdings increased form $95,484,413 to $97,286,677, and the tables show a slight but steady increase from June 10th last, when the net gold was made up of silver certificates, 12 per cent; United States notes, 53 per cent, and treasury notes, 35 per cent; and the May statement was little better in this respect. In June, 1892, 8 per cent of the receipts were paid in gold certificates and 26 per cent in gold coin.

Notes of the Capital. The Columbia iron works have notified the navy department that the cruiser Detroit, built by them, is ready for delivery to the government. SICKENING SIGHTS ON THEIR REMOVAL Women Looking to See if They

Could Recognize Their Dead. THE PYRAMIDICAL PILE OF DEBRIS

Will Be Sifted to Ascertain Whether There Were Any Visitors Among Those Who Were Lost at the Fire.

Chicago, July 11.-The fall of night still finds the ruins of the cold-storage building unexplored, and it is just beginning to be realized that the full extent of yesterday's disaster cannot be ascertained until the mountain of rubbish is sifted and carted away. At some points the accumulation of debris is fifteen to twenty feet high, and it is still impossible to know how many charred bodies may rest beneath until these heaps have been thoroughly examined. The search is necessarily slow and tedious, owing to the vast amount of iron and machinery which encumbers the ruins and the inextricable net work of rods and bars formed by the intense heat.

Revised List of Dead.

The complete list of dead as far as known is: finds the ruins of the cold-storage building unexplored, and it is just beginning to be

How the Injured Are Doing. Lewis J. Frank, one of the injured fire men, is in a precarious condition tonight and the doctors at the hospital are fearful for his recovery. The other injured men are in a fair way to get well. In all, thirteen bodies have been removed from the ruins. Besides these, three fire nen died at the hospital. The point near the smokestack, where many of the men were seen to jump, is covered with a mangled mass of steam pipe and charred timbers fully twenty feet high. It is nov definitely known that a number of workmen employed in the building ascended the fatal tower with the firemen. There were four or five of them known to have gone up the shaft with the fire extinguishers.

Looking at the Ruins. The most interesting exhibit at the world's fair grounds today was one not scheduled official guide book. It is the ruin of the cold storage structure yesterday destroyed by fire, and 10,000 people this mornfrom June 10th last, when the net gold stood at $90,722,958, the lowest point reached in many years.

The custom receipts at New York last month was $9,337,798, a reduction of $629,909, as compared with the preceding month and of $253,472 as compared with the corresponding month of 1892. A significant feature of the treasury statement is that not a cent of the receipts for last June were paid in gold or gold certificates, but was made up of silver certificates. 12 per ing crowded around, eagerly watching the shaft, and as they fell victims one by one to the flames their bodies naturally fell somewhere within the small circle surround-ing the shaft.

Firemen Not the Only Victims. The bodies recovered today were evifell from the shaft, because they were found at a somewhat remote distance from this point and under a mass of steam pipes and machinery that must have fallen from above. On one of the bodies was found a leather belt, to which was attached a pair leather belt, to which was attached a pair of steel pinchers, thus practically proving the remains to be those of a lineman. The discovery gave fresh color to the fearful apprehension that the firemen were by no means the only ones who fell victims to the flames, and the publ.c at once became disposed to doubt the declaration yesterday made by the supervising firemen that all employes and visitors were out of the building before the conflagration had reached a dangerous stage.

The Columbian guards on duty yesterday The Columbian guards on duty yesterday have constantly maintained that several world's fair visitors and electricity and other workmen were caught in the flames, and the new discovery of the bodies under the ruins this morning and the fact that one is undoubtedly that of a lineman gives credence to their declarations. It is certain that there were numerous visitors and workmen in the building at the time the fire broke out, and the statements of the Columbian guards that many of these were caught in the flames were received so seriously this morning that it was decided were caught in the names were received so ser ously this morning that it was decided that a minute examination, foot by foot, of the pyramid of the debris would be made of the pyramid of the debris would be made before the day is out.

The electric light company had a number of men in the electric light part of the building stringing wires at the time the fire broke out, and several of these are still missing. Four Columbian guards were unaccounted for this morning, and their companions are naturally very solicitous as to their fate.

All through the long hours of the night, while the search of the dead was going on, a crowd of several hundred hung around the scene, and this morning the fascination of death attracted thousands more people to the scene.

A Regular Firetrap.

The tragedy of the fire simply deserved to illustrate the unsubstantial and inflammable condition of the structure. The thin layer of staffs that gave an appearance of marble solidity to the building has dropped off and discloses a framework of light pine

It was thought probable that several of these will turn up all right.

Many inquiries have come from Springfield, Ill., as to the fate of Lieutenant John Freeman, of Company No. 1. He was one of the first to reach the top of the shaft, and was, consequently, one of the earliest victims of the fire. His charred body has been recovered and in some way identified by the comrades of the dead man.

Scenes at the Morgue.

The inquest on the victims of the fire began today. The scene at the morgue where the inquest was in progress was a horrible one. Swarms of people, some looking for friends and relatives among the dead and many more attracted by morbid curiosity which is always manifest morbid curiosity which is always manifest at fires and casualties, crowded into and around the charnel house. The first patrol wagon that left the grounds carrying the blackened remains of a fireman was followed by a crowd of men and boys, and this seemed to be the signal for increasing crowds of others to make their way to the place. The police had their hands full in keeping the people back. Pushing and crowding men and women vied with each in efforts to get a glimbse of the corpses as they were lifted from the wagons and carried into the morgue.

After the jury had viewed the bodies of the victims, Coroner McHale decides to adjourn the inquest until Thursday next.

Raising a Fund. The managers of the military tournament now being held in the stock pavilion here informed the director general that they will give a benefit performance for the families of the firemen and Columbian guards who lost their lives in the fire. guards who lost their lives in the fire. Certain employes have obtained permission from the council of administration to have set apart Thursday, July 13th, as a day that all employes and all passholders entering the gates of the exposition shall, at their option, drop the usual admission fee of 50 cents in a box at the gate. This contribution is not compulsory, but a douation by sympathizers for those who have been left in want by the conflagration.

Charles T. Yerkes, the street car magnate of the city, has written to Director General Davis suggesting that the exposition company donate a certain day's receipts to the families of the victims of the awful fire. If the company will do this, awful fire. If the company will do this, Mr. Yerkes says he will pay $2,500 for an admission ticket on the day the exposition people agree to set apart. He believes other Chicagoans will follow his example.

Discussed by the Committee The holocaust was the principal subject of discussion at today's meeting of the national committee. Immediately after calling the commissioners to order, Presiden Palmer said:

"Gentlemen, you know under what sad circumstances we adjourned vesterday. One circumstances we adjourned yesterday. One of the most horr.ble catastrophes that has ever happened in any country took place almost under our eyes, and it seems proper to me that the commission should take some action on the sad event, and also take some action, if we are not powerless, to prevent a recurrence of things of this kind. I would suggest that the course of the commission be embodied in a resolution that the charge of the buildings which are frequented, or whose roofs are being frequented by the of the buildings which are frequented, or whose roofs are being frequented by the public, should be inspected. It is my opinion that there are several buildings here from which, in case fire takes place, it would be impossible to take people off the roof in the event of damage to the elevators. Commissioner Barbour, of Michigan, presented a resolution of respect for the memory of the dead, which was adopted by a rising vote.

On motion of Commissioner Mercer, of Wisconsin, a resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of a special committee of four to inspect the buildings as regards the safety of human life in case of fire upon the grounds.

Mr. Castleman, of Kentucky, presented Mr. Castleman, of Kentucky, presented a resolution, which was adopted, directing the committee on buildings and grounds to request the Chicago board of fire underwriters to report to the national commission the condition of the various buildings as to danger from fire and the further presentings, that are necessary if easy. cautions that are necessary, if any.

Those Unscorched Signs. On the ruins of the huge cold-storage pavilion today were several signs that had remained unscorched, and attracted the attention of gaping thousands. On the east of the building, standing out in bold relief against a mass of blackened timbers, was a against a mass of blackened timbers, was a sixteen-foot sign that announced that "ice skating" of the finest kind could be had on the roof, causing the visitors to look for the imaginary roof, which had gone up in the smoke. At the northeast corner of the building was a mountain of smoking timbers, from the center of which protruded another sign, which announced with ghastly sarcasm: "This building strictly fire-proof: erected by the—"

Would Break Up in a Riot-The Speeches Made. Denver, Col., July 11 .- The mass meeting called by President Merrick, of the state silver leage and joint committees from the chamber of commerce, real estate and stock exchanges, met at the Colliseum hall at noon today. The building was crowded with a thousand delegates from every section of the state who had come to see what could be done towards crystallizing sentiment in Colo-

Among the delegates were the leading men of the state, like Senator Wolcott, Congressmen Bell and Place, ex-Governor Hill, with many bank officials and members of the Colorado general assembly. There appeared to be but one feeling in all the gathering and that was "free coinage or nothing."

This seemed to bring the angry their senses and the recess was taken. On reassembly it could be easily seen that the spirit that controlled the delegates at the morning session was not under control, but morning session was not under control, but only awaited an opportunity to break out again. After order had in a manner been restored, the committees appointed in the morning made their reports, except the resolution committee, which will report at tomorrow's session. Hon Charles S. It may be that the road of free coinage is long and weary, he said. The other killing was that of a young boy of seventeen by a girl of sixteen, who was the best friend of the slain boy.

Henry Tubbs, the boy, was at the house of Samuel Bandy, and talking to als daughter, Sulria, when Daisy Bennett, who lives next door, said to a number of her friends who were outside the house, "Let's scare Henry," and went in and got an old life belonging to ber father.

The gun had been standing around the house for months, unloaded, and had been played with a good many times, but last Saturday Mr. Bennett had taken it down and loaded it to go hunting tomorely. The girl got the rifle and going out to the fence of the adjoining house, called the boy. He went out and the gun was pointed in his face. He laughed and took hold of the gun with one hand, and the girl pulled the trigger. To her amazement the gun were off with a loud report and the boy feel dead with a load of shot in his brain. The girl is prostrated and almost crazy with grief and als her companions are wild with sorrow over the death of the roy, who was a general favorite. The verdict of the coroner's jury exonerated the girl.

EXCITEMENT AT BARDWELL.

Negroes Threaten to Avenge the Hanging of Bardwell, Ky., July 11 .- There is some excitement here, though a strong effort is being made to keep the matter quiet. Yesteray it was rumored that negroes would come over from Cairo to avenge the death of Miller. The town has made arrangeents for a large number of Winchesters and plenty of ammunition, and in an incredably short time strong reinforcements ould be secured.

The Bardwell Star will issue an extra today that will forever set aside all doubts that the right man was hanged. No doubt even the negroes will be satisfied. Part of the excitement that prevails is due to the effect that a negro was arrested at Milan, Tenn., yesterday, and it is rumored that he will prove to be Miller's partner and be ought back. There is conclusive evidence here now that Miller was the right man vanted at Dallas, Tex. The picture sent from Dallas is his beyond doubt.

There was no mistake.

The town is well armed now and will give a hearty reception to any mob that may come. News has reached here that the negro arrested at Milan has proved that he was at Fulton the day of the murder and has been released. An extra Bardwell Star has just appeared and fixes the matter of Miller's guilt so conclusively that all the matter is settled, but the town will not be caught napping. caught napping.

Who Wore the Finest Clothes in Town, Is Charged with Embezziement.

Birmingham, Ala., July 11.—(Special.)—Today Professor Leonard Lippman, who some time ago established here the New York College of Commerce, was arrested in Memphis on a charge of embezziement, filed here by Robert Garry & Co.

Lippman cut a wide swath here as a "professor" for about a year and dressed finer than any man in town. He, it appears, pledged two typewriting machines owned by manufacturers in Atlanta, Ga. The professor left here Saturday for Chicago, he said, but was found in Memphis, registered at a hotel there as H. St. Clair.

The officers will return here with him in the morning.

The Chairman Ordered Mr. Sexton to Withdraw His Remark,

AND HE REFUSED TO OBEY THE ORDER.

There Was Uproar, but Upon Mr. Glade stone Appealing to Sexton, He With-drew and Broderick Apologized.

London, July 11.—The house of commons, sitting in committee, continued this evening the discussion of clause nine, of the home rule bill. This clause concerns the questions of Irish representation at Westminster.

Henry Sexton-Karr, conservative for Standelman in the light of the discussion of the threating and the proportion of the discussion.

imperial parliament be elected by constituen-cles which would elect the Irish legislative council. Under this amendment the Irish in the house of commons would number for eight instead of eighty, as proposed by bill.

John Morley, chief secretary for Ireland, replied that this proposal was based on no prin-ciple of government—was the result of a de-sire merely to curtail Irish representation in the house and could not be connected by the

the house and could not be connected by the government.

Sir Richard Temple, conservative for the Kingston division of Surrey, said that even forty-eight Irish members would be too many. William Broderick, conservative for the Guilford division of Surrey, agreed with Sir Richard. The Irish were both impecuations and garrulous, and therein lay two reasons for reducing their representation in the house to a minimum.

Thomas Sexton, anti-Parnellite, for North Kerry, interrupted Mr. Broderick to say that such language was certainly impertment and ought not to be tolerated in the house.

The unionists shouted "Withdraw," and the Irish cheered.

Lord Randolph Churchill suggested that Mr. Sexton withdraw his words, as Mr. Broderick's were not intended for him personally.

The House in an Uproar

The chairman told Mr. Sexton that he was out of order and must withdraw his expressions concerning Mr. Broderick's speech.

Mr. Sexton expressed his willingness to obey the chairman in case Mr. Broderick would first express regret for his language. Timothy Healy, anti-Parnellite, for North Louth, said he regarded Mr. Sexton's attitude as quite justifiable. To call the Irish race impecunious and garrulous was to insult every Irish member who stood by his countrymen.

every Irish member who stood by his countrymen.

The Irish cheered; the unionists shouted their protests, and for two or three minutes the house was in an uproar. Chairman Mellor appealed to the members to support him and close the incident.

Air. Gladstone spoke a few words in favor of the chairman's decision, but added that the person striking the first blow ought to make the first overtures for a reconcilisation.

Mr. Baifour, leader of the unionists, said that, acting under his advice, his-honorable friend (Mr. Broderick), refused to apologize.

The chairman turned and appealed to Mr. Sexton, who had been conferring with several of his colleagues on the Irish bench. Mr. Sexton did not respond, as was expected, to the appeal.

Sexton Refuses to Obey. "I am willing to do anything consistent with my duty to please the prime minister," he said, "but considering the gravity of the insult offered to my countrymen, I have deinsuit offered to my countrymen, I have decided not to make any apology. I submit my-self to the judgment of the committee."

Loud Irish cheers greeted this statement. The chairman hesitated and finally ordered Mr. Sexton to withdraw. Mr. Sexton shouted back, hotly:

"Such a course is unprecedented. Why am I not named and my conduct submitted to the house?" house?" Irish cheers, unionist shouts and cries of "Divide," followed this.
The chairman pulled himself together, and with more show of spirit than he has made before, repeated his order that Mr. Sextos would withdraw.

Irish cried, "Don't withdraw?" The unionists shouted that Mr. Sexton should be compelled to obey.

In the turmoil the chairman gave his third order that Mr. Sexton withdraw. Mr. Sexton stuck doggedly to his seat.. The chairman then explained the standing order concerning the suspension of members disregarding the orders of the chair. His last words were almost taken from his mouth by Timothy Healy, who exclaimed:

"This is a shame. It has never been doublefore. It is due to Milman."

This reference to Archibald Milman, cierk assistant in the house, and the immediate inference that he had been coaching Mr. Mellor as to his duties, caused a general disturbance. The unionists shouted derisively:

"Who is chairman?"

The Irish replied in chorus: "Milman is boss."

Several liberals called out, "Let the chair-

Several liberals called out, Let the chairman alone."

Mr. Mellor sat through the tunnit. As the disorder abated he was again baited by Mr. Sexton, who shouted:

"Am I to be the victim of a malicious intrusion of the clerk?"

The inquiry was answered only by a renewal of the uproar, above which could be distinguished, "Put him out." Sexton Obeys Gladstone, Mr. Gladstone appealed to Mr. Sexton to obey the chairman.

Mr. Sexton replied with evident reluctance that he would leave his defense with the prime that he would leave his defense with the prime minister.

Cheers and counter cheers were given when he made this statement.

As he retired the Irish jumped to the bench and waved their hats and cheered furious. After Mr. Broderick withdrew his statement that the Irish were garrulous and impecunious and order was restored Mr. Sexton-Karr's amendment, which had been quite lost to view in the hubbub, was ther rejected by a vote of 251 to 219.

Subsequently to a motion to adjourn, Timothy Healy appealed to Speaker Ped against Chairman Mellor's treatment of Mr. Sexton. The speaker, however, supported Mr. Mellor's decision.

Barker was charged by J. C. Haile, general passenger agent of the Central railroad, with selling passes which he had secured on application for editors whom he represented, as desiring to go to Bruns wick. It seems that Mr. Barker wrote to beveral members of the association and asked them if they were going to the convention at Brunswick, and if they were he requested them to designate which route they preferred to travel. Some replied that they were not going and others wrote him that they would prefer to go direct from Atlanta by the East Tennessee. Barker got passes by both roads for the same mer and sold the Central passes to a broker in Atlanta. One by one passes were captured by the alert Samuel Webb, traveling passenger agent of the Central. He recovered all told, about a dozen, it is said, that had been sold by Barker. The matter was reported to the general passenger agent. To be dead sure he wrote to the parties to whom the passes captured had been issued and asked them to refund the road the price of a ticket from Atlanta to Macon or Savannah, as the case might be, or explain how the passes got out of their possession. The editors replied that they had never had the passes over the Central. Some of the editors were red hot when they found out the trick that had been worked.

THE END IS NEAR.

The Melon Growers of Thomas and Vicinity
Have Made Their Shipments.

Thomasville, Sa., July 11.—(Special.)—The watermelon business is rapidly frawing to a close and in a week or ten days a carload of melons will be almost a novelty.

There have been over three thousand cars shipped up to date, which is about five hundred in excess of the number shipped at a corresponding date last year. Prices are very low and there are a great many melons in the field which will never be pulled for shipment, the cost of hauling to the railroad and loading exceeding the amount received from the fruit when shipped north.

Griffin, Ga., July 11.—(Special.)—This morning, about 3 o'clock, Max Goldman, a merchant of Griffin, died from an abcess of the lungs, producing hemorrhages. He was a German by birth and had been doing business for some time in Griffin with his brother-in-law, A. Guthman.

West Point, Ga., July 11.—(Social.)—The annual election for the school commissioners of the West Point public schools took place here yesterday. It resulted in the re-election by a large majority of the three members whose terms had just expired, viz. W. H. Harrington, W. B. Higginbotham and J. S. Horsiey. These gentlemen, together with the other six members of the board, have watched over the interests of our schools well and wisely and the ballot box shows that our citizens are pleased with their management of affairs.

Miss Stella Burns's music class gave one of their delightful concerts at the opera house last night. Miss Burns is one of the best planists in the state. Her touch is simply charming and expression faultless. As a teacher of the pleasing art she is eminently at home. Of the many enjoyable concerts given by Miss Stella's classes this one is the best, was the verdict of the large andience who attended the entertainment last evening. Each participant did excellently, showing thoroughness in preparation. The entire programme is worthy of publication, but space nortods. The vocal solos by Miss Lella Freeman and Ida Jackson and the charming recitation by Miss Nolan, of Atlanta, were vociferously encored and each had to reappear. The choruses were also greatly enjoyed, and indeed the same might be said of every part of the programme.

Thomasville, Ga., July 11 .- (Special.)-The northern portion of this county has peen under considerable excitement for the past few days occasioned by the killing of Mose Green by Henry Spencer, ooth colored.

Green married Spencer's sister and they have a daughter about grown. Green accused Spencer of undue intimacy with his daughter. This made Spencer mad and he threatened violence to Green.

Spencer is a very desperate character. Green came to town and swore out a peace warrant. The officers went out to arrest

Spencer but failed to find him. The same night Spencer went to Green's house and shot him through the head with Winchester rifle, from the effects of which he died on Sunday.

Sheriff Doss went out with a posse yes terday to arrest the murderer. He was located in the house of a friend late last night. The night was intensely dark and the rain was pouring down in torrents. The officers surrounded the house and the sheriff called to Spencer to surrender. The negro threw open a window and opened fire with his Winchester. The posse returned the fire, but in the darkness all the shots went wild. The negro disappear ed in the house and while the sheriff was deciding on what move to make next he removed a plank from the floor, slipped through the hole and made his escape in the darkness, firing a farewell volley at the officers as he disappeared from the scene in the rain and darkness.

Pursuit was useless, and the desperado is still at large. He has not left the neighwill yet be arrested or killed, as Sheriff Doss is determined to have him

Marietta, Ga., July 11.—(Special.)—Mr. Fletcher P. Reynolds died at his home here this afternoon at half-past 12 o'clock. His death was a quiet and peaceful one, and during the trying ordeal he was surrounded by those nearest and dearest to him on earth. He had for a long time been in feeble health and fully expected and was prepared to meet death. He had from his youth been a devoted member of the Presbyterian church, and his faith, and trust were beautiful and entire. Few men had so many friends as he and few held them more steadfastly than he, and yet amid all the sunshine that these and a loving and devoted family threw into his life hardly any have experienced the grief that fell to his lot. At one time, while living near Covington, his house caught fire and he was compelled to helplessly witness the fames as they burned to death his daughter and oldest child and his wife's sister. About three years ago, on a beautiful Sabbath morning as his family and relations were returning from church in Marietta, the horses ran away and threw the occupants out. killing his next oldest daughter, Miss Katie, and his sister, Mrs. Merritt. He was at home an invalid at the time, and the pathetic picture of him receiving back to his home the dead body of the daughter, who so happy and so beautiful, had only an hour or so since left it, was beyond all description.

He now leaves this world of sorrow and care and joins the loved ones on the other shore, where he can fully understand the works of Him who does all things well. He leaves a last shock did much to hasten the end

Him who does all things well. He leaves a widow and five children, an aged mother and two sisters. Mrs. James F. Alexander, of Atlanta, and Mrs. C. F. Kohleim, of Marietta, besides numerous relations and friends to mourn his loss. The interment will take place at the old family burial ground in Covington Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Late last evening Arthur Crenshaw, who has been living at 185 Georgia avenue, died of typhoid fever. The body will be taken at 5 o'clock this evening to Toccoa for inter At 399 Rawson street, Mrs. Nancy Cross mother of Mrs. John T. McMahon, passed Danger is near when the kidneys grow inactive. The source of peril is removable with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which unquestionably averts Bright's disease, diabetes, gravel and other ruinous maladies attributable, in the first instance, to a dormant condition of the kidneys and bladder. A healthful impulse to the performance of the functions of these organs is speedily communicated by the Bitters, which likewise removes constipation, malaria, liver trouble and dyspepsia.

THE CHIEF DIED.

And the Coroner's Jury Said It Was the Result of Morphine

ADMINISTERED BY DR. JOHNSTON.

The Verdict Caused Great Excitement Chattanoogs and the Doctor's Friend Had to Hurry Him Away. Chattanooga, Tenn., July 11 .- (Special.) Dr. R. L. Johnston, whose people live in East Orange, N. J., and whose father has been prominent in New York politics, is under arrest charged with involuntary manslaughter. This morning early the death occurred of Chief of Police D. F. Mitchell, who was injured while picnicking Sunday at Chickamauga by a tree falling upon him. The injuries were not considered dangerous and the chief's sudden death this morning is charged to Dr. Johnston, his attending physician, who it is alleged, administered an overdose of morphine while under the influence of liquor. An inquest was demanded and the coroner's jury verdict served only to more seriously implicate the young practitioner, the jury finding that the deceased had come to his death as the result of morphine administered by Dr. Johnston.

Acting Chief of Police Huffaker, following the action of the coroner's jury, had a warrant issued for the physician charging him with involuntary manslaughter. The prisoner waived preliminary examination and was given liberty on a $1,000 bond. He immediately left the city upon the advice of friends who feared the wrath of relatives and friends of the dead chief. Johnston has been here about three years and recently joined partnership with Vaulox Gibbs, one of the most prominent physicians in Tennessee. The dead chief has been at the head of the department but three months, having been promoted from a lieutenacy. Excite ment has been running high all day and tonight. Friends of Johnston appreciate the wisdom of their course in having sent him out of the city.

The physician denies that he was drunk and stoutly maintains the chief's death was not due to morphine, but the result of injuries sustained last Sunday.

THE SAENGERFEST AT CLEVELAND. Seventy-One German Singing Societies

the City.
Cleveland, O., July 11.—The long-anticlpated twenty-seventh saengerfest of the North American Saengerbund opened today. The city is gayly decorated and the music of many brass bands fills the air. By night seventy-one German singing societies from as many cities had arrived and been assigned to quarters. In the evening the big Saengerfest hall on Wilson avenue was the center of interest. The reception concert was then given, participated in by 1,000 singers and listened to by an audience of 6,000. Mayor Blee welcomed the visitors to Cleveland briefly, but heartly, and Governor McKinley did a like duty for Ohio. His appearance at the front of the stage was applauded long and loud. J. Hanna Deal, of New Orleans, presented the banner of Saenger union, as former presi-dent, to Paul Sneider, the present president.

Mme. Eta Elinda, the prima donna, re-ceived an ovation, to which she responded by singing "Home, Sweet Home," Cleveland being her home.

Miss Lena Little, the contralto; Baron Berthald, the tenor, and Gustave Bernelke, the basso, fully vindicated their high reputation as vocalists. The festival of Cleveland singers and the Philharmonic orchestra also did their work well.

IT GOES OVER.

The Hearing in the Georgia Southern and Florida Case Postponed.

LIVELY ARGUMENT OVER THE QUESTION,

But Postponement Finally Carries the Day. The 25th of July Now Fixed for the Hearing-The Arguments.

Macon, Ga., July 11 .- (Special.)-The the petition of bond-foreclose the mort-the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad and sell the property, set for today, was not had, and the case was reassigned for Tuesday, July 25th instant, at 9 o'clock. Judge C. C. Smith, of the Oconee circuit, arrived from Hawkinsville and called the case this morning at half-past 11 o'clock, presiding for Judge C. L. Bartlett, disqualified. There was a large attendance of lawyers and spectators when court opened.

What Garrard Wanted.

Hon, Lewis Garrard, of Columbus, represents the bondholders of the Macon and Birmingham road. The Macon Construction Company undertook to build this line and finished it as far as LaGrange. The Georgia Southern directors endorsed the bonds of the Macon and Birmingham. The question has been raised that the bonds are invalid, because the charter of the Georgia Southern road does not confer on the directors the right to endorse bonds, but gives this right only to the stockholders of the Georgia Southern. Then the constitutional question also arises that the charter of the Macon and Birmingham road is illegal, because it is a special charter granted by the legislature, whereas there was a general law in existence at the time under which There was a very able array of gentlemen of the legal profession. Prominent ong the visiting attorneys engaged in the case on the bondholders' side, were general of the United States, and his law partner, ex-Judge W. R. Hammond, of Atlanta; Messrs. Richard Venable and Skipwith Wilber, of Baltimore; Mr. Burton Smith, of Smith, Glenn & Smith, of Atlanta, and Lewis Gerrard, of Columbus. The only local attorneys representing the bondholders, were Dessau & Hodges.

The defendants, the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, Macon Construction law in existence at the time under which the charter of the Macon and Birmingham road should have been granted.

Mr. Garrard argued before Judge Smith against hearing the Macon and Birmingham question at the time when the petition of the bondholders for the foreclosure and sale of the Georgia Southern is heard. He did not think that was the time to enter upon a discussion of the constitutional point mentioned.

and Florida railroad, Macon Construction Company and other creditors were represented entirely by local attorneys, towit: Ex-State Attorney General Clifford Anderson, Hill, Harris & Birch, Gustin, Guerry & Hall, Hardeman, Davis & Turner, J. L. Hardeman and others. Among the interested speciators were ex-ludge R. interested spectators were ex-Judge R. Trippe, of Forsyth; Hon. Tom Eason, solicitor general of the Oconee circuit, and Julian Williamson, of Forsyth.
Hon. Hoke Smith, secretary of the interior, was a leading counsel for the bondolders when the case was first brought Judge Smith postponed the hearing on the petition of the bondholders for the foreclosure and sale of the Georgia Southern until Tuesday, July 25th, at 9 o'clock a. m., subject to the physical ability of Judge Anderson to enter into the trial of the case at that time. The bondholders' attorneys expressed themselves willing to risk Judge Anderson being well enough then, and consented to the postponement today. into court and for some time after, but since his appointment to the cabinet, he has taken no active part in the matter, but his law firm was represented today, as already stated, by his brother, Mr. Bure jurors were called and sworn. Mr. Burton Smith, in behalf of the attorneys for the bondholders, announced that his side was ready to proceed with the trial.

Defendant Not Ready. Ex-State Attorney General Clifford Anderson arose and said that in the beginning of the case he simply appeared as attorney for the Macon Construction Company, but desired to state now that he also represented the Georgia Southern and Florida rail-pead, having only recently been employed. road, having only recently been employed in that capacity, because the regular attorneys of the road, Gustin, Guerry & Hall were unable, owing to personal relations, to represent certain defenses, Judge Anderson further certain defenses. Judge Anderson further announced that owing to ill health and the oppressive heat from which he has been suffering greatly he was unable to go on with the hearing today. A few days ago he thought he might be able to do so today, but last night had another attack of sickness. He further said that he had a daughter in Colorado in a critical state with whom his wife and other members of the family are now, and he desired to go to Colorado at an early date, and feared that from his own physical condition and that from his own physical condition and that of his daughter he would be unable to enter into a trial of the case very soon.

enter into a trial of the case very soon.

Judge Anderson also argued some legal points why the hearing should not be had immediately. He said there appeared to be an effort and desire to unduly press the case to trial. He said there were others than the bondholders who had rights in the matter and interests to be protected.
He did not understand why this invasion by a band of bondholders, when money is especiated in the land and the heat so in-He did not understand why this by a band of bondholders, when money is so scarce in the land and the heat so intense. The property is here. It can't run away. The bondholders realize that now is the best time to buy property cheap, and they may wish to get the road at a song.

Mr. Richard Venable, of Baltimore, an attorney for the bondholders, said in reply to Judge Anderson that they did not wish to have the property sold in depressed times and suggested that the court in passing his decree could fix a day of sale at a time that would appear best for the interests of the road.

time that would appear best for the interests of the road.

Judge Anderson said he did not care to take any chances about the matter. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," declared the judge with emphasis. He said the bondholders are rich. They have prior claim on the property, and should be considerate of the claims of the creditors. "I will not call them bloated bondholders," said the judge, "but"—

Just here the judge was interrupted by Mr. Washington Dessau, an attorney for the bondholders who said, with a smile:

"The bloat, has all been taken out of them, judge."

them, judge."

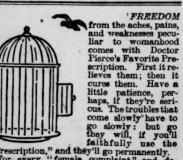

"Well, this weather is hot enough to take the bloat out of anything," quickly reforted the judge, "and I want this hearing postponed."

Other Reasons Given.

Judge Anderson argued further in favor of a postponement. He could see no reason why this case should be given a favored position on the docket. The term of court was at an end. There was only one jury now summoned and that for this case. The case is an intervention and not a separate bill. Process was issued and served and Judge Miller allowed parties to intervene. It is an intervening petition, not triable at this term. Judge Kibbee, special master, had just filed his report in certain matters and the lawyers for the defendant have not had time to examine the same and could and the lawyers for the defendant have not had time to examine the same and could not say whether or not they desired to file exceptions for which purpose they have thirty days. He thought the whole case, with all of its branches should be tried at the same time and not simply one of the limbs chopped off and brought into court. Judge Anderson said he did not know until this morning that Master Kibbee had completed his report.

Judge Smith now spoke from the bench and said that last week, when he was in the courthouse to assign the case, one of the attorneys in the case, he did not know which one, had said that the master's report was ready.

which one, had said that the master's report was ready.
"Well," replied Judge Anderson, "it must have been one of the attorneys on the other side, for no attorney on our side said it. It may have been one of the local attorneys."
At this Mr. Dessan arose and said that his firm was the only local attorneys in the Hon. Robert Hodges, Mr. Dessau's partner, arose and remarked that he thought Judge Gustin, defendant's attorney, had said it.

Whereupon Judge Gustin jumped up in a rather startled manner and replied: "No, sir; I said no such thing. I think it was Judge Hammond, of Atlanta, who said it."

Judge Hammond smiled and answered: "I may have said it, but I was furnished the information by some one." So the fact was fastened on the genial and handsome judge,

Mr. T. W. Reed, Dear Sir: We have just learned from rumor that differences exist between yourself and Mr. A. L. Mitchell. In order that the matter may be honorably and amicably adjusted we, who are friends to you both, request that all controversy between you be submitted to us with full power to adjust and award between you, such action to be taken by you both as is consistent with your character as honorable gentlemen. mounting. The crowd that witnessed the mounting of the guards this morning was not so large as heretofore, but quite a number were out. They come to see the dress parades in the afternoon more probably than anything else, as the stores closing at 6 o'clock gives proprietors and clerks alike an opportunity to get out. Then it is late in the evening, just the cool part of the day, when it is delightful to be out.

Last night some hungry fellow heat Captain Kenan out of some mighty nice chickens. He had them in keeping, and occasionally he would think of the good time a-coming, when he would enjoy that sweet chicken meat. But, alas, in the dead hours of night, some sly soldier fellow who likes chicken also, hearing of the lot up at the captain's tent, silently stole up and just as silently stole away. He came up, took in the situation and then proceeded to take in the chickens. He realized that a chicken in the hand is worth two in the coop. The fiend has not been caught yet.

Shooting on the rifle range continues, and today the fellows are thumping at the black spots from the 500-yard mark. This is the Waterloo, where many will fall. The score for those shooting last is in Company E from Liberty county: W. L. Martin, 27; H. J. Easterling, 27; J. S. Jones, 25; J. W. Dosher, 27; J. W. Hughes, 36; W. H. Sallette, 30; W. G. The Case Against Mr. Sharpe Dismissed.

Sheriff Hewitt Was Fined.

Carrollton, Ga., July 11.—(Special.)—The trial of Editor E. R. Sharpe and James M. Hewitt, sheriff of Carroll county, for fighting, came up before his honor, Mayor G. H. West, yesterday, Judge Sam Brown, Professor H. C. Brown, R. N. Moses and H. M. Hayes were the only witnesses sworn and the facts brought out in the evidence were about the same as telegraphed from here Saturday night. Mr. Hewitt did not go to the council room at all, but his attorney pleaded guilty to fighting for him. Editor Sharpe came clear.

It developed in the trial that Mr. Sharpe did not hit Hewitt a single lick, nor does it appear that he attempted to hit him. When Hewitt hit him with the billiet Mr. Sharpe gathered hold of Hewitt and in the sculle they fell to the floor, Sharpe on top, but the evidence did not show further demonstrations after the fall. They were separated.

Hewitt was fined $5 by the mayor and Sharpe was discharged. The matter is still the falk of the fown and county. The fines are closely drawn and a more serious affray is expected. The report as sent by your correspondent that Hewitt told Sharpe just before he hit him that he would give him something to publish is denied by some eyewitnesses, and claimed to be true by others.

The report sent out to some other papers that Sharpe got the best of the fight was proven on the trial to be untrue, for Sharpe did not hit Hewitt a single time, hence he administered no whipping.

It is reported an attempted by United. While wandering among the sea of tents your correspondent met Captain Greenough, of the United States army. He showed

The fellows begin at 500 yards range—nine strong—and fire and run about 100 yards and fire again, some standing, some inclining and some lying flat on the ground, and this continues until the targets are reached. The targets are pictures of real men in black on a white background above which are large white figures in a trench. Just in front are the markers who signed the system and and come in wagons and buggies sixteen and eighteen miles to listen to the speech and partake of the big barbeeue, which was furnished for the occasion by the people around Moxley, who are nearly

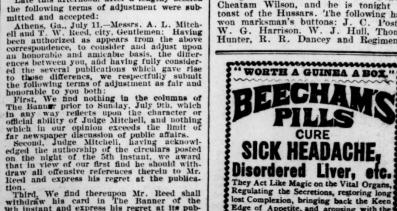

A gentieman who heard Watson make quite a number of speeches during the last cam-paign and who heard this speech says Tom-seems to be losing enthusiasm and don't come near up to his efforts of last year. However, there was no lack of appreciation on the part of his third party hearers. A right funny occurrence happened to one of the adjutants today. It seems that when the adjutants are mounted the commanding adjutant gives the command, "Officers front and center gallop, march!" The officers happened not to be mounted this time, however, but they had to get a move on them, and gallop to center.

Some of the fellows in camp have begun to get a little home sick and have made application to go under the disguise of business, but it seems as though they will be compelled to remain in camp till the time is out. They failed to get transportation, and as most of them live quite a distance, it will be likely that business will call them to stay in camp.

They had a man who today made for himself a military reputation that is enviahimself a military reputation that is envia-ble. He made a score on the rifle range 108 and won the sharp shooter's prize without going back to the 500 yard mark. Lieutenant Satterlee remarked that that had never been accomplished before in Georgia. That man's name is Francis Cheatam Wilson, and he is tonight the tonst of the Hussars. In fact, one of the hottest yet had and just about noon the sun seems to shine with increased vigor, the foliage not being thick enough to intercept the rays. Yet not withstanding the fact that it is extremely warm here, it is about as cool as anywhere else, and places could be found hotter. On thing just here which especially recommend Camp Northen is the fine supply of water It is as good as can be found in the state, and then in such abundance. Besides having plenty for cooking purposes, horses and un like, there is the greatest abundance for shower baths, and these the boys do enjoy to the fullest extent. Commencing tomorrow trains to and from Columbus will be as follows: Leave Columbus at 7:05, arriving at Griffin at 9:45 a.m., Atlanta at 11:20 a.m. Returning the train will leave here at 5:10 p.m., arrive at Griffin at 6:50 p.m. and Columbus at 9:40 p.m. The afternoon train out of Columbus and the morning train out of McDonough will run as local trains, making no connection to or from Atlanta.

THE LOAN EXTENDED.

Nothing Can Be Done Just Now Towards Reorganising Anything.

Word comes from New York that the Terminal people talk very conservatively with the minority representatives of the Central.

Mr. Comer, Captain Howell and Colonel Phinizy, the committee which went north to arrange for an extension of the loan, carried by the Hollins syndicate, got an extension for sixty days. Right now, with money at 15 per cent, it would be impossible to reorganize, even such a railroad property as the New York Central, the capitalists stated to the Georgians. By the 1st of September, it is hoped that the financial situation will be much easier and that then the debts of the Central can be better provided for.

ATLANTA, GA., July 12, 1893.

The South's Quota on the Supreme Bench.

The Washington Post, speaking of the te Justice Blatchford's successor, well ys: "The southern states have long omplained that they are not adequately presented on the supreme bench, and ould have another justice from that ction. It is quite possible, circumtances considered, that President Cleveland may coincide with such views and appoint a southern man to succeed the te Justice Blatchford. Such selection uld necessitate a reorganization of the circuits so as to place nearly, if not , the southern districts in circuits to presided over by justices appointed m the south."

From 1866 to 1886 the south had no epresentative at all on the supreme ch, when President Cleveland apointed Mr. Justice L. Q. C. Lamar from dississippi. We do not count the appointment of William B. Woods, of Ohio, as fairly charged to the south. Woods came south as colonel of an Ohio egiment in Sherman's army, and was oon after the war, appointed circuit udge by General Grant, but while not ding court Woods lived nearly all the time in Licking county, Ohio, and when he died was buried there. In 1880 Woods was appointed to the supreme bench by Hayes, an Ohio man, and was credited to Georgia, but, as we have shown, he had merely a nominal resiidence here, and was a real resident of Ohlo. So our statement is accurate that from 1866 to 1886 the entire south was without any representation on the supreme court. We now have only one, Justice Jackson, and he was appointed by Mr. Harrison.

The southern circuits are arranged as follows: Maryland, Virginia West Vic Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and North and South Carolina are presided over by Chief Justice Fuller, of Illinois: Delaware is in the circuit of ustice Shiras, of Pennsylvania; Kencky and Tennessee are in the circuit of Justice Brown, of Michigan; Mis souri and Arkansas are in the circuit of Justice Brewer, of Kansas, while the afth judicial circuit, which is composed of Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Missis sippi, Louisiana and Texas, is presided over by Justice Jackson, of Tennessee

Fairness and equality of representation demand two more justices from the south, and one should be a bona fide nt of the fifth judicial circuit

Out of a cabinet of eight members the south has three, and out of a supreme court of nine members the south has now only one, and should have two

A Piece of the Cake, Please!

We observe with regret that there is a threatened controversy over the natural desires of Atlanta and West End to drive a mutually advantageous bargain preparatory to wiping out the municipal es that divide the two. "Old Subscri ber" and "Veritas," and "Vex Populi" are coming to the front and threaten to nfuse a perfectly simple proposition.

Whatever else may be lacking in the mental equipment of casual newspaper atributors, it is certain that they do not lack imagination. In this particular case we find that both Atlanta and West End have ceased to be corporations, and have become personal enti ties, endowed with life and power. Thus, on one hand "Old Subscriber" declares that West End is a cormorant that seeks to destroy the repose of Atlanta by demanding too much, while, on the her hand, Atlanta is a dragon that is seeking to swallow West End raw, without pepper or salt, and without paying the usual cafe charges for a square meal. On one hand it is hinted that West End wants the earth, and on the other that 'Atlanta is higgling and pinching and pulling back.

All this is, of course, purely imaginary. The negotiations that are going forward are in the hands of men entirely competent to carry them. If one side or the other is seeking to obtain undue advantages or demanding unnecessary concesons they do not represent the views of the people at interest. As a matter of fact, nothing of the sort has been or will be attempted. The good old lady who expressed the fear that if West End was taken into Atlanta it would be placed in an unhealthy part of the city moved to he country some years ago and died of typhoid fever. The man who held the opinion that West End was rapacious in its demands was, at last unts, rusticating near Smarr's sta-

A New Departure.

Attorney General Smith, of Indiana ecently astonished the bar of his state by a notable departure from the practice of public prosecutors.

A poor girl had been convicted of child murder and had appealed to the sureme court, where it was the duty of the attorney general to conduct the side of the prosecution.

When he submitted his brief Mr.

Smith remarked that an examination of the record had caused him to doubt the defendant's guilt, and that he did not believe the law required him to attempt to strengthen the evidence in the case by any argument which he might be able to make. He requested the court to assume the responsibility of affirming or reversing the judgment of the lower ourt, declaring that it was not his duty to assert some theory consistent with the guilt of the accused and then contend for a conviction when he was inclined to believe that the case did not

The court reversed the judgment from below, and now the complaint is made that the attorney general did not do his duty. It is an interesting question, but strikes us that when a prosecuting officer doubts the guilt of a defendant he should not be required to advance arguments and theories designed to secure a conviction. Attorney General Smith acted in the best interests of jus-

General Discontent.

In far off Australia the crowds of peo ple who are out of work are in open rebellion in the cities of Sydney and Brisbane.

The Australian bank failures stopped the payments on many public works. The contractors and laborers and many small trades people are rioting in the streets of Sydney, a city with a population of 380,000, and in Brisbane, a city of 94,000 inhabitants, and the police are fraid to interfere. Persons who were well to do before the bank failures are leaving on every steamer as stowaways. One young lady who had been a school teacher sold herself for her passage to Vancouver's, hoping to be able to go rom there to England.

These scenes of distress may be more than equaled in the four great silver producing states of the west, if all their nines are compelled to shut down. Let 50,000 men be thrown out of work in those states and there will be serious trouble. In Kansas, too, there are signs of distress. A Topeka telegram says:

Bank Commissioner Breidenthall has re Kansas which indicate that before long the majority of them will close their doors. They usually have but small capital stock, and their deposits indicate that either confidence has been lost in them or that the lepositors have left the country

The drought has been broken in some egions, but too late for any practical bener ten months, and the ground is baked as hard as adobe bricks. Those unable to leav have petitioned the governor to call an ex-tra session of the legislature to assist them in buying seed wheat. This the governor leclines to do, recommending them to apply o their more prosperous neighbors in the

We have made this joint reference to Australia and our western states because their conditions are somewhat ralia and th countries. Mining and agriculture made them prosperous for a long time. In the season of their discontent the western people are just as likely to raise a row as the Australians.

It is not safe to allow such discontent to continue. We do not pretend to prescribe for the Australian situation, but in this country there is only one remedy and that is to carry out the pledges of the democratic platform. Give the people the financial reform and the tariff reduction they demand and we shall have no more such reports from the west. But if these pledges are not redeemed we doubt whether the suffering masses will quietly accept their fate The chances are that their protest will assume the shape of violence.

The Cotton and Wheat Argument.

The Springfield Republican, coming forward with the somewhat belated admission that the "cotton and wheat argument" of the bimetallists was a sound one, says that its effectiveness has been destroyed by the fixing of the market value of the rupee. Our contemporary has either not taken the trouble to in vestigate the new situation that has grown out of the Indian event, or it has misunderstood the argument which it now endorses.

The fixing of the value of the Indian rupee in the London market merely fixes the discrimination against American products that compete with those of India. When the value of the rupee in London was measured by the price of silver bullion the discrimination against American products was a fluctuating and a declining quantity. It followed the fluctuations of bullion silver. Thus, when the weekly sales of council bills (rupee drafts) were made by the Bank of England, British importers could refuse to buy except at the price of silver bullion, for they could send the bullion to India, have it coined and pay for their importations with the rupees. But now that the mints are closed, these importers will have to buy the council bills at the price fixed, 16 pence, or go out of business. The discrimination against the American producers amounts to something more than 16 cents to the rupee in every transaction in wheat and cotton, that being about the difference between the fixed price of the rupee in London and its legal tender value among the Indian producers, among whom silver has known no fluctuations. It is an interesting fact that while our Springfield contemporary has all this time been playing 'possum on the "cotton and wheat argument" some of our southern brethren who have taken a large dose of John B. Henderson de-

It is too early yet to discuss the fects of the Indian experiment. As yet it is to be regarded as an experiment and nothing more. Some English financiers view it with doubt, while others are more hopeful. The leading London newspapers do not write about it as confidently and as dogmatically as (for instance) Horace White, private secretary of the John B. Henderson democracy.

But whatever else may be said about it, one thing is certain, that the British government of India was forced to take ts rupee paper from under the pending and possible silver crash that will follow the repeal of the Sherman law. If its ouncil bills, sold in London for gold to pay its home obligations, had been eaught in that prospective cataclysm the esult would have been bankruptcy.

But what effect the experiment will have on the financial situation in this country, or on the price of cotton and wheat can at present be left only to conjecture.

The Truth of History.

The New York Tribune wonders how e question of secession will be treated by Professor Sylvanus Morris, of the University of Georgia, in his proposed southern school history.

Our contemporary has been led to beeve from certain expressions in southern newspapers that Professor Morris will undertake to vindicate the confederacy. It says:

Now leading southerners do not hesitate o declare that the renewal of the secession cheme will never be made. Some of them so far as to say that southerners then elves would be prompt to discourage any novement looking to its renewal. This is well as far as it goes, but obviously it does ot go far enough. The children of the now, and that there never was, any such state right as secession. How can they be expected to grow up loyally devoted to th on, how can they be expected to render it more than a perfunctory allegiance if they are taught that the south, although cometh, had the right of it? We trust that one will feel disposed because of these marks to accuse The Tribune of waving a bloody shirt. That is not an exercise for eich we have any liking. We desire merely insist upon the proposition that the lost lost, the cause which had to be the cause which deserved to if this republic of ours was to survive in its integrity. Whoever teaches other-wise, whoever substitutes fidelity to south-ern traditions for fidelity to the truth, berays the public weal.

It is not likely that Professor Morris will declare that there is now or was in the past such a state right as secession. But it is to be hoped that he will make it plain that during the first forty years of the republic the right of secession was upheld and advocated very strongly by prominent leaders in New England, and that the first book in defense of the idea was written by a reputable lawyer of Pennsylvania, William Rawle,

Let the truth of history come out. Our children should be taught that it was at one time the belief of millions of people north and south that the states of the union had the same right to withdraw that they claimed and exercised under the old articles of confederation.

A school history should also call attention to the fact that our civil war has caused no amendment to be added to the federal constitution forbidding secession. The people of the four western silver states who are indulging in secession talk just now are doubtless aware of this fact, and they attach undue significance to it. It is right that all these matters should be presented in a reliable school history. There is no danger in letting the facts come out, because the American people, as a mass, have been educated in this generation to believe that secession, whether right or wrong, is unprofupon any section that withdraws or attempts to withdraw from the union. Edmund Burke once said that a man had the right to shear a wolf, but it would not pay to exercise it. Just so with the alleged right of secession. It would not pay. Occasionally there will e discontented people who may talk about breaking up the union, but they will always be a very small minority Upon the whole, there is no good reason for not giving the facts about secession in our histories. It is a dead issue and there is no danger that it will ever be recalled to life.

The Chicago Horror.

From time to time we furnish horrible object lessons showing how little human life is prized in this country and how little care is taken to preserve it.

The death traps erected some years ago by Buddenseick in New York, the dangerous building that killed so many war department clerks in Washington, and the deadly structure at the world's fair which caused the loss of so many lives on Monday illustrate the American recklessness in all mafters where human life is concerned. When a building is condemned as unsafe the owners generally prop it up and let it stand as a menace to public safety. A bridge may be known to be dangerou but people will continue to use it. It has been feared by thoughtful persons that a fire in the buildings of the world's fair would be very destructive, as efficient safeguards are wanting. The truth of the matter is that we have no right to draw hundreds of thousands of people to a big show where their lives will be in danger. The proper steps should have been taken long ago to insure the safety of every building in the White City.

The criminal negligence of the author itles in Chicago and other large cities in the matter of allowing the erection of twenty-story buildings with no efficient means of speedily extinguishing a fire, and with no proper facilities for the es cape of the inmates, will some day result in a frightful calamity.

We must have in every city better building and inspection laws and enforce them to the letter. The Chicago disaster might have been averted if the authorities had thought less of their hig show and more of the safety of human

We see it stated that Editor Medill, of th alfalfa experiment station, is very much an noyed by the opponents of the John B. Hen derson programme.

It is worthy of note that just as John B. Henderson appears on the scene with his bond scheme, John Sherman announces that the national bank system has had its day and that the currency of the country must be treasury notes. This announcement must be measured by the fact that John Sherman is never sincere when he can help it.

The real and only genuine fool-killer is the gun that wasn't loaded

It seems to be a positive fact that all signs fail in dry weather.

Speaker Crisp ought to give the editor of The New York Times a leading place on all of the committees of the house. It is his only opportunity to give a modest man a chance to build up the John B. Henderson now consists mainly of John B. himself and Horace Flaccus White.

Guy de Maupassant's disease was the result of the fact that his stomach was too large for his brain. This is a trouble that is not confined to men of talent.

Professor John Earle, the philologist, says that "eyether" and "nither" are the correct thing. What is the matter with the Georgian "uther" and "nuther"? We submit the question to Dr. Fitzedward Hall.

It is said that Philadelphia bankers are hoarding silver treasury notes. Horace White hastens to explain that this fact is not a concession to "the brute metal," or words to that effect.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

It is an acknowledged fact that a great age is attained by women oftener than by men. This is explained by the fact that they lead quieter and more regular lives and consequently their brains and nervous systems are not worn out as quickly, as a forty-five, and died in the reign of Jan from the effects of an accident. This won derful woman found herself at the age of one hundred as lively and strong as to be one hundred as lively and strong as to able to take part in a dance, and when hundred and forty she traveled all the way from Bristol to London—in order to attend personally to some business affairs. Lady Desmond is, however, quite thrown into the shade by a Frenchwoman, Marie Prion, who died in St. Colombe in June, 1838—It is said—at the wonderful age of one hundred and fifty-eight. Toward the end of her life she lived exclusively on goat's milk and cheese. Although her body was so and cheese. Although her body was so shrunken that she weighed only forty-eight pounds, she retained all her mental faculties to the last. It is an extraordinary but in-contestable fact that some women, at the age when most people die, undergo a sort of natural rejuvenation-hair and teeth grow again, the wrinkles disappear from her skin and sight and hearing reacquire their form sharpness. A Marquise de Mirabeau is example of this rare and remarkable ph nomenon. She died at the age of eighty-six, out a few years before her death she became in appearance quite young again. The same change happened to a nun of the name of Marguerite Verdur, who, at the age of sixty-two, lost her wrinkles, regained he sight and grew several new teeth. Whe she died, ten years later, her appearance walmost that of a young girl. lost her wrinkles, regained her grew several new teeth. When

By the way, did the late republican administration, when it increased the tarif n wheat, intend that this particular tarif should raise or lower prices? Now, what has such a comprehensive tariff as this done to wheat?

Notwithstanding the large partisan majority that body contained and the dire predictions of the political enemies, the democratic campaign of last year was in no manner marred by a single act of the house. For this fact the democratic party owes much to Mr. Crisp and the leaders he called to his assistance. President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisl seem to have recognized the worth of the Georgia statesman, and it is but natural that they should desire to consult with him in regard to the policy of the party. The times are not prosperous for bamboozling and playing hide and seek. The people are in no mood to be fooled with. They are very much in carnest and they will destroy the political schemers who dare to betray their interests—they will send them into the obscurity they so much deserve and put in better, truer, gamer men—men of honesty, men of principles, men of convictions.

STORIES FROM THE STATES.

The strangest bit of land north of Florida es quite near ruined Fort Caswell. This is Smith's island, or Bald Head Island, which, nearer the gulf stream than any land on the continent. The result is that it is subtropical, the palmetto reaching a height of thirty feet or more, growing in profusion, while the olive and the myrtle are abundant. A greater peculiarity is that frost does not iffect vegetation on the island, which is about four miles long and three wide. On it is lighthouse built in 1817, and a life saving station. Extending across it is a heavy earthwork, built by the confederates in 1861, now a vast line of sand banks. The place is hunter's paradise six months of the year. The island was recently purchased for $25,-000 by a Chicago man, who will build a hotel and utilize the great forest of live oak and palmetto as a game preserve. GEORGIA POLITICAL NOTES.

The leading political question in the state at the present time is, "Shall south Georgia name the next governor and the next United States senator?" This is the "recognizitorabout which the south Georgia editors are getting hot in the collar, and they are keeping up a light design of the light of the collar, and they are keeping up a light design of the light getting not in the conar, and they are keep-ing up a lively fusillade on this line. South Georgia is also behind on government patron-age, and a lively row is in progress on that subject also.

The Newnan Herald says of Congressm

The Newman Heraid says of Congress, and as a reffor to get a candidate for congress, and as preliminary to this important step resorts to the silly expedient of trying to depreciate the ability and public service of Hon. Charles L. Moses. The Heraid is not only unduly previous in its political prognostications, but exceedingly fresh withal."

The Macon Telegraph is in favor of an early selection of candidates for governor and the United States senate. It says:
"We think the people are right in interesting themselves early in these questions. Selections for these offices ought to be made with the greatest possible care. The state needs big and good men in them—men capable of doing the work for their state that should be done and that little men or bad men cannot do."

The Savannah News, discussing the United States senatorship says:

States senatorship says:

"Well, among the new probabilities there is Hon. Fleming G. duBignon, who, while be has never avowed his candidacy, does not conceal his ambitton to be counted among the members of that deliberative body as Georgia's representative. He is an active democrat, and has done good work in the party's service. There is no question but that he will make somebody hustle when the cannaign is on.

The Columbus Enquirer-Sun makes this suggestion to its esteemed "north Georgia friends:"

friends:"
"How much more friendly, fraternal and altogether nicer it would be for our north Georgia friends to frankly acknowledge the corn, and in a spirit of fairness and justice agree that south Georgia is really entitled to the governor or the next United States senator, or, indeed, in a burst of generosity concede that for once south Georgia should be allowed to fill both of these honorable offices, and whirl in and help south Georgia elect one of her numerous statesmen to the red manson on Peachtree street, and auther to the United States senate. We inred manson on Peachtree street, and another to the United States senate. We indulge the hope that we may yet see some such disposition manifested on the part of our north Georgia friends."

GEORGIA PRESS PERSONALS.

Augusta Evening News: Mr. Fleming is recognized by the state bar as one of the best lawyers, just as the politicians and people know him to be a coming politician and statesman of large caliber.

Brunswick Times: Congressman Russell has secured a promise from the president that Editor Underwood, of Camilla, should have a good appointment. Underwood is a whole south Georgia team, and his appointment will fill a long felt want in this section. Dalton Argus: If every congressional dis trict in the country was as ably represent of the seventh Georgia, the country would be ten times doubly safe. We cannot help feel ing sorry that there are not a few hundred more men like John W. Maddox in the fifty, third congress, and we feel a sincere compassion for those districts which are deprived o Newnan Herald: Notwithstanding he los a leg in the battle of Monocacy Junction, few men have succeeded better than clever Bob Stamps, formerly of Coweta, but now of Atlanta. He came home from the war, went to work, and in a few years had provided a home for his family in Atlanta, besides giving his children a good education. In fact, he is considered in "good fix," as the world goes, and each year adds to his prosperity an happiness, which no one begrudges. Birmingham Age-Herald: Every seat in the new Second Baptist church was taken before service time yesterday morning by those who desired to hear Rev. Dr. Hawthorne's dedicatory sermon. This learned and eloquent divine is one of the best known and best loved ministers of the church in the south and has a wide reputation the country over for the vigor and versatility of his thought and the felicity of his expression, both in the pulpit and on the lecture platform.

STATE PRESS COMMENT.

Savannah Press: It is said Mr. Blount is coming home to watch the boys fix up the fences and batter down the hatchways. Jonesboro Enterprise: The indications are that the coming campaign will be almost as lively as the last one.

Griffin Call: Political demagogues have almost killed the alliance in the south, and a continuance of such by the head of the organization is to perfect the job. Savannah News: The people of the low country are not beggars, and they won't beg the administration for favors, but they would like to have Mr. Cleveland show some appreciation of the fidelity to democratic principle and of the modest merit of the democracy of

FOUND IN THE FURROWS.

Covington Star: The most hopeful sign of prosperity is the increased acreage of corn and the decreased acreage of cotton. That begins to look like living. Newnan Herald: Good grain crops make it certain that all of us will get enough to eat this year, even if a few of us do fail to make connection with federal offices. Piedmont Republican: The farm county, upon whom we must rely for much that contributes to comfortable living, are comparatively happy. They are not much in debt, are fairly well up with their work and have good crops. Milledgeville Chronicle: The happiest man Milledgeville Chronicle: The happiest man in the land today is the successful farmer. He sits contentedly under this own vine and fig tree, undisturbed by the maddening poises of the great city. Banks fall railroads go into the hands of receivers, booming towns collapse, all business stagnates—bott the wise farmer can snap his fingers at all these things. He is monarch of all he surveys on his broad acres.

HOT TIMES IN GEORGIA.

Augusta Evening Herad: The weather is so frightfully hot on Tybee island that it has suffocated all the mosquitos. Ill-wind-no-

Savannah Telegram: While the people Savannan relegratu: While the people of Augusta, Atlanta and other Georgia citles are complaining of the sweltering nights, the residents of Savannah slumber peacefully, fanned by cool breezes from the briny deep. Washington Gazette: Mr. Hal Arnold set his incubator a few days ago, but hetween the heat of the concern and the hot weather he completely cooked the eggs. He says he will let up now till cooler weather.

A verdant youth from the wilds o lission Ridge, who means well, but "don' know how," spoiled what would have bee a splendid game of ball, yesterday, by umpiring that was too rank for description.
It was a close, hard-fought game, with many plays of the snappy, brilliant order that so delight spectators. But all the delight and enjoyment was knocked out by young Mr. Hadley's inexcusable rankness. He was rank from beginning to end.

He was rank in everything he did, and his rankness was due to sheer incompetency. Atlanta got the worst of his decisions out they were bad all around. He le Beard bluff him into a number of queer decisions, all of which cost Atlanta runs Then Macon won out in the ninth by timely

CHIEF JUSTICE BLECKLEY TO READ.

He Is Going to Read a Paper Before an At-

There is going to be a delightful entertainment for Atlanta's enjoyment in the near future. Chief Justice Logan E. Bieckley is going to be one of the leading attractions on the programme, reading his paper which so recently was applauded by the state press when read before the State Bar Association. Chief Justice Bleckley has written many entertaining and instructive papers, and in his time has recited many pretty little toasts on occasions fit and proper, but he has never read a paper that was so generally pronounced charming as was this same paper he read before the Bar Association of Georgia, Another enjoyable feature of the programme will be some readings by Frank L. Stanton, the south's poet. He has consented to join the others in making out the programme, and that it will be one of the most enjoyable ever witnessed in Atlanta is easily calculated. Mr. Stanton has been giving readings to crowded houses in many of the Georgia cities recently, and is already recognized as one of the leading men in the United States in this line, so natural and so easy are his portrayals of the pictures he has so well drawn in his beautiful songs of a day. on occasions fit and proper, but he has never

THE PAPERING BURNED.—The fire department was called out yester-day afternoon at 3:43 o'clock to answer an alarm rung in from Box 54.

'The fire was in a negro dwelling and was quickly extinguished. The only damage was the burning of a number of newspapers which had been pasted on the walls and ceiling.

BROTHER AND SISTER.—Tax Receiver Armistead does not allow Walsh Collier's tax returns to worry him any longer. They are twins, brother and sister, and he is justly proud of the pair.

WANTED TO RIDE.—Henry Howard was bound over by Judge Landrum yesterday for stealing a bicycle from Mr. A. C. Risdorn. The negro claims that it was turned over to him when he came here from Duluth some days ago.

A GREAT NEED.—"There is one thing Atlanta needs that nobody seems to observe particularly." remarked "Bud" Kernodle, the well-known character who presides over the pay counter at Durand's restaurant, yesterday as he looked out upon the row of pauting horses hitched to hacks out in front.
"What is that?" somebody asked.
"Places to water horses. Do you know that there are but two places of this kind that I know anything about in the whole city. These horses that stand around here from early morning till late at night have a right hard time of it, and so do all the others, engaged in street work. Of course, a negro driver is not going to trouble himself to carry water to his horse in a bucket, and consequently many a man's horse goes all day without drinking. I think it would be a wise plan for the city council to take a hand in this matter and have little troughs placed here and there on nearly every corner for the benefit of these horses that have to stand on the street so long at a time."

OUT OF THE CHAINGANG.—Henry Sharp, of Ware county, who is serving a short term in the chaingang for carrying con cealed weapons, was pardoned yesterday. He was sentenced to three mouths and has served most of the time and his conduct has been good.

IN THE SAD SEA WAVES.—Chief Connolly and lady left vesterday for Tybee Island, where they will be the guests of Mrs. Connolly's father, Mr. J. G. Butler, who has a delightful summer cottage on the beach, Chief Connolly annually takes an outing at this delightful bathing place, and this time he will be absent until August 1st. Assistant Chief Wright will fill his place.

CONDITION OF MR. ED HARDIN.-Mr. Ed Hardin, though still quite ill, nassed a quiet day yesterday, and is in no immediate danger. SOCIETY NEWS AND GOSSIP.

Mrs. D. W. Appler and daughter, Miss Ida, have returned from a delightful trip to Texas. They visited in New Orleans and a number of Texas cities. Their many friends are giving them a hearty welcome here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barton and their little designter. Mal. left yesterday for Canton, Ga., where they will spend a few weeks. Miss Sallie Hunnicutt, who has been spending some time with friends in Virginia, is at home again.

Miss Fanny Griffin leaves on Wednesday for Hogansville, Ga., to visit the family of Dr. Jenkins.

Miss Lillie Anster, of New York city, is visiting her brother, Dr. L. Amster, on Wash-ington street.

Stanton, the south's poet. He has consented to join the others in making out the programme, and that it will be one of the most enjoyable ever witnessed in Atlanta is easily calculated. Mr. Stanton has been giving readings to crowded houses in many of the Georgia cities recently, and is already recognized as one of the leading men in the United States in this line, so natural and so easy are his portrayais of the pictures he has so well drawn in his beautiful songs of a day.

The full programme for the entertainment has not been arranged yet, but it will be made out within the next few days.

HOUSEKEEPERS FIND

Royal Baking Powder

Will Keep While Others Spoil.

Some baking powders are so imperfectly made from cheap and inferior materials that they spoil or lose their strength. During the last year thousands of cases of a new brand, sold or commissioned upon a "guarantee," have been returned to the manufacturer caked or spoiled, and useless.

Such powders, if used in baking, are a vexation. They do not make nice bread, biscuit or cake, but spoil good flour, butter and eggs, and produce impure, unwholesome food.

Royal Baking Powder makes perfect food; never wastes good materials; never spoils or loses its strength; the last spoonful in the can is as good as the first; the housekeeper never has cause to return it to the grocer and beg for the return of her money. Its invaluable qualities are familiar to all American housewives, who have found its use a reliable guarantee of light, sweet, pure and wholesome food.

It is unwise, if not dangerous, to take chances with other baking powders.

One thing which concerns them all is the acts of lawlessness committed by mobs of lynchers and white caps. If the courts are to blame the judges want to find out in what manner so that a remedy can be applied.

Another subject which will occupy the attention of the judges will be the penal laws.

Some of the penalties are too severe. For in-publishers tumbled over each other to get to him. Before he was thirty, he had published four or five works, which set him up on a pinnacle, as it were, among writers. He was regarded as most brilliant, as he was the most successful young writer of his time or of almost any age. He came to America, and was lionized. He liked it at first, but it soon swelled his head, and he wrote back that he was tired of it. He wished the American people would let him alone so that he could see the sights in peace. Even when he took a drink of water, a crowd would surround him and look down his throat. Still, he formed acquaintances which he prized. He thought a great deal of Henry Clay, and he had a high opinion of the American women. He did not think that they had such good figures as his countrywomen; but then he was going back to England to live, and he could not be uncompilmentary to the fair sex there.

A West End Question.

Editor Constitution: I noticed in the report of the West End division of the annexation committee, as published in your issue of the 6th instant, a very peculiar clause, which reads as follows: "In case of annexation we recommend that water mains be laid on the following named streets, viz: On Park from Peters to Lee, on Lee from West End avenue to Beecher, on Gordon from Lee to Lawton, on Ashby from Greensferry avenue to Baugh, on Oak from Lee to Lawton and from Oak to Baugh." Why does the committee propose to turn off the water from Gordon into Lawton when it is a notorious fact that Gordon street beyond Lawton is one of the most thickly settled portions of West End. and at the present time a number of houses and costly A West End Question residences are being erected? In fact, take Gordon street from West End and very little would remain. Mr. Editor, it is a singular coincidence that every member of the West End annexation committee reside in the radius mentioned above and the proposed water mains will be located in close proximity to the premises of all but one of said committee (I refer to Mr. Howell.) Now, sir, we that live outside of the charmed circle feel agrieved at the report of the committee and justly so, as we represent a large portion of the tax payers of West End. Now, we do not propose to be taxed for water and other improvements brought around by annexation unless we are permitted to share equally with other citizens of the proposed seventh ward, and unless favors are more evenly distributed I have my doubts about the union of Atlanta and West End.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS AND FORECAST

Scattered showers fell yesterday in the coast states from the Carolinas to Louisiana. In Georgia the rainfall was confined chiefly to the southern and coast sections. In Savannah the moderately heavy rainfall of 82 of an inch was reported. This was the heaviest reported rainfall in the whole country. The warmest portion of the country, where temperatures in most localities were up to 90 degrees or above during a portion of the day. East of the Mississippi river, where temperatures in most localities were up to 90 degrees or above during a portion of the day. East of the Mississippi the weather was a little cooler, very few temperatures as high as 90 degrees occurring. The highest temperature reported yesterday was 98 degrees, which was observed in four cities of as many different states—Abilene, Tex.; Dodge City, Kan.; North Platte, Neb., and Rapid City, S. D. The coolest city in the country yesterday was Buffalo, where the highest temperature for the day was 74 degrees.

THE NEW YORK MARKET. Ezchange.

J. S. Bache & Co.'s Stock Letter. Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The market was again completely demoralized and prices closed with a decline in some listances of 7 per cent. The extreme being in Chicago Gas, which broke nearly 5 per cent in the last five minutes, as several selling orders came in and had to be executed, in consequence they had to be sacrificed in order to find a market. It seems to be the popular impression on the floor that the stocks of three important operators were sold out. The first was a lot of stocks that were bought at the time of the announcement by the president and that the other two accounts were principally Northwestern, St. Paul, Lake Shore and General Electric. Generally the parties who owned these stocks are supposed to have held them for some time, and becoming disgusted, threw them over. What few remaining bulls there are left seem to have lost all their nerve and look on calmly. This is a market that requires very careful watching and great caution, and to operate in same will require big margins.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Circular.

NEW YORK, Jujy 11—(Special.)—Liverpool apparently took even less stock in the bullish report of the agricultural bureau than our traders did, and the course of our market today was just the reverse of that of yesterday. August opened at 8.96 and declined with scarcely any reaction worth mentioning to 7.89. The close was quiet at the lowest prices. It was a day of liquidation. The buvers of yesterday threw overboard their holdings in disgust, and the bears, emboidened at the attitude of Liverpool, helped the decline by liberal short sales. Everything scened to be against the market. In the forencen there were reports of good and beneficial rains in Alabama and the southwest, and towards the close the bad break in the bears to check the decline. Liverpool certainly doe

J. S. Bache & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

By Private Wireto B. W. Martin, Manager.

NEW YORK, July 11—Liverpool was disappointing this morning, as the market there was only 3 points up with a quiet tone when a higher market had been anticipated. The market opened at about unchanged prices, but soon after became weak on the realizing of those who bought on yeaterday's bulge and declined 15 points, the break being helped by reports of rains in the lower section of Texas, and was without any support. Traders took advantage of yesterday's advance to realize, and are apparently waiting for a low-er level of prices before buying again. The decline of the afternoon was helped by the weakness in the stock market and in anticipation of further trouble on the other side. General weakness in all surrounding markets checks the speculative demand in spite of the bad crop accounts. Trade remains almost entirely of a local character. There is little spot demand at present, and the future depends on crop news. Rain is badly wanted in the cotton belt, and principally in Texas. The market is very nervous, being quickly influenced by any crop or trade news.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, July 11.—A queer somersault was turned by the wheat market today. The latest whiff of the financial bilzzard seemed to be the reason. There was a fall of 15-5 in the cerzal in the face of the government report indicating a smaller crop than sluce 1885, and with that exception than in any year since 187. Compared with last night wheat at the close had lost 11-4, and corn declined 5-8. Provision prices also were heavy. Wheat opened 1-4 to 3-8 higher than yesterday's closing, but ruled weak, immediately began to decline, prices receding in all 15-8 for September, held steady and the closing was about 11-8 lower. December closed about 13-8 lower than yesterday. The market was a decided surprise to operators who had expected higher prices today on the strength of the government report. The higher opening was the result of this report which indicated a crop of 394,000,000 bushels against a crop of 401,000,000 bushels a month ago. The shrinkage was entirely in spring wheat, but there were other influences which out-weighed the effect of the gov-indicated a crop of 394,000,000 bushels against a crop of 401,000,000 bushels a month ago. The shrinkage was entirely in spring wheat, but there were other influences which outwelghed the effect of the government report. These were the failure of a real estate firm at Denver, the failure of a commission house and a bank of Kansas City and a bank in Australla. Raliroad stocks at New York were much lower. It was thought that a good deal of long wheat, held to the account of the suspended Kansas City irm was sold out. There was a general desire to sell most of the session, and not much disposition was shown to buy.

The corn trade followed wheat. It was easter to follow on the breaks than on the bulges, because the news in corn was mostly bearlsh. The crop estimate in corn lost much of its force because the trade had already discounted a good improvement in condition. The receipts were heavy, but this was offset by a decrease in local contract stocks, leaving less than 1,200,000 bushels of No. 2 in store. There was a raily on the light estimate for tomorrow. Later when stocks and wheat got panicky, corn dropped again. Frazer, Parker and others bought on the break. All the vessel room available was taken for corn. The market opened with 1-8 to 1-4 loss and sold off 5-8 to 3-4, railled 1-4 to 3-8, reacted again and at the close showed a decline of 5-8 to 1 cent.

The feature in oats was the strength and advance of 3-4 in July, and the weakness and decline of 3-4 from yesterday's close in September, the close showing a net advance for the day of 3-8 in July and 3-4 decline in September. The strength in July was due to the fair buying by shipping houses. The weakness in the new crop futures was attributed ato free selling on the government crop report.

The advance of yesterday in provisions was wiped out. The weakness in the grain markets, the Kansas City failure and some selling by packers and raiding by brokers for Wright did the business. Armour & Allerton, brokers, tried to sell ribs. Wolff, Logan and Schwartz so crop of two billion bushels, caused the bear-ishly inclined to sell less freely at our pres-ent not high prices. October markets were stubborn at a decline. The government lig-ures for oats were about as expected, indi-cating a crop of about 720,000,000 bushels, and are considered bearish. The talk is for still lower prices, but we are inclined to purchase of September on seft spots for awhile. Provisions lower but market very dull. Large receipts of hogs at Omaha and Kansas City caused some selling of lard.

The Alaska Refrigerator

Is No Doubtful Experiment.

It has stood the test of years and becomes more popular every season. Thousands now in daily use prove the truth of our claims, that the "ALASKA" is the best refrigerator in the world.
They are perfect in principle and construction.

Economical in the use of Ice. Satisfactory in all Results.

The air in the provision chamber is ALWAYS COLD.

Absolutely Pure and "Dry as a Bone."

"ALASKAS" are stronger and more durable than other makes.

They "will not fall to pieces" after the first season's use.

There are more "Alaskas" in Georgia today than all other refrigerators combined and every single one pleases the owner.

This is the record! Come and see!

CRANE CAUGHT.

The Forger Was Arrested in Cincinnati. Yesterday Morning.

TELEGRAM SAYS HE GAVE HIMSELF UP.

But the Authorilles Here Do Not Believe It-His Captors Will Get $150-Story of the Charges Against Him.

In Cincinnati, the gay city of beer and fast living, Charles C. Crane, the forger, who has been missing from Atlanta since early last May and who has been widely described in pictorial circulars, was caged by the bluecoats of that city yesterday. Last night Detailed Officer Burke left for the Queen City on the Western and Atlantic train to bring Crane back to this city. tomorrow night the young man w raded bogus paper with so much ease will be in the police station in his old home here.

case of Crane is fresh enough in the minds of the people to be still well remem-bered. Crane himself is well known in At lanta, and to those people with whom he was formerly acquainted or associated in business the announcement of his crooked-ness came like a thunderclap from a clear sky. He lived in Atlanta only four years before going wrong, but his record during that time was one that never was tarnished that time was one that never was tarnished before the startling announcement of his forgeries was made last May.

Crane came to Atlanta four years ago from Baltimore, Md. He was a handsome young man then, of fine appearance and good business qualifications. He dressed well always, and his neat fitting clothes, blonde mustache and hair and fair complexion, made a picture that always. made a picture that pleased the feminin went into the insurance and real estate business, opening a fine office here.

Two or three years ago he married the daughter of a well-known physician of this city. The young lady was one of rare beauty, and as her father was very well to do, her prospects of coming into a neat in-heritance were exceedingly pleasing to Mr. Crane. His wife was devoted to him and when he skipped from the city, leaving behind him numerous bad checks and notes, she was prostrated for several days and for a while it was thought she would die.

It seems that Crane's downfall was due

It seems that Crane's downfall was due to his speculation proclivities and his taste for fine dress. He dropped a considerable portion of his earnings at the bucket shops and invested a good pile in swell clothes. He left the city very mysteriously about the 4th of May, but not before it was discovered that he had received money on paper that he had forged and which was absolutely worthless. worthless. He received about $2,000 from the Atlanta

National bank on a forged check, and got $325 from Dr. Styles on a note signed by J. W. Green, which note was afterwards repudiated by Mr. Green as a forgery. It is said that he also obtained other sums in illegal and fraudulent ways. The case was first reported to the police by Dr. Styles, who discovered himself swindled, and Detective Crim was detailed to look for Craes. twing discovered immsert swinded, and Detective Crim was detailed to look for Crane It was found that the forger had skipped from the city. The following morning President Romare called Chief Connolly into conference and stated that his bank was out several hundred dollars through Crane's fraudulent manipulations, and he offered a reward of $100 for Crane's capture in behalf of the bank. To this reward Dr. Styles added $50.

Pictures of Crane were sent all over the country and it was thought certain that he would be captured, but he was not heard from until yesterday morning when Chief of Police Philip Deitsch, of Cincinnati, teleor Police Fining Dettsch, or Chelmati, tele-graphed Chief Connolly asking if Crane was wanted here. Chief Connolly replied that he was and stated in addition that a reward $150 was outstanding for his arrest. colly received a telegram stating that Crane was then in custody, having given him-

In the dispatch from Cincinnati announce ing the arrest the following details are given:
Here he met T. J. Irwin, a painter, and Ed
Woods, employed in the Southern railroad office. To them Crane confided the story of his crime, with the additional information that there was a standing reward of $150 that there was a standing reward of $150 for his capture. Woods and Irwin were both broke, and lived off the money Crane had left from his wrong doing. Last week Woods, in the hope of receiving the reward, telegraphed Chief Connolly, of Atlanta, asking whether or not Crane was still wanted. Chief Connolly replied that he was. Today Woods and Irwin told Detectives Keating and Calnan about the man, and they arrested him. He acknowledged his guilt, and says he is anxious to get back to Atlanta, as he is confident his friends will make good his stealings. Woods and Irwin appeared at police headquarters to claim the reward. Crane says that when his troubles are over he will devote the balance of his life to "getting even" with the men who caused his arrest.

The Southern Railway and Steamship Association met yesterday at the Oriental hotel, Manhattan beach, Long Island.
The agreement for the coming year was the subject which was to come up for consideration. The presidents, receivers and general managers will probably be in session there all the week.

mission as U. S. Commissioner,

UNLESS JUDGE PARDEE INTERFERES.

The General News About the Custon House Yesterday-Other Commi

The United States ciruit and district courts were in session yesterday, Judge Newman presiding, and again was the elevator running.

One of Judge Newman's most important acts yesterday was the removal of United States Commissioner Boone Crawford, of Morganton, and this same action may bring him into conflict with Judge Pardee, circuit judge. sourse, that District Attorney Joe James has never had any extra love to throw away in the direction of the said Commissione Boone Crawford, and immediately upon his taking charge of the district attor office he set about trying to depose Mr.

Through the district attorney it was that Commissioner Boone *Crawford was notified that his resignation would be accept ed without any unnecessary red tape. It was also intimated at the time, to the commissioner, that if he persisted in refusing to resign he would have to go at some

It happens that the office of United States Commissioner at Morganton is a place that brings in a nice revenue, and at the same time the incumbent is advanced to the dignity of a judge and an office holder. All these things were in the mind of Mr. Crawford just at the very time of the reception of the letter by him. He had evidently been anticipating just such action on the part of the district attorney, for he sat down and composed a letter to Judge Pardee, the circuit judge, and the gentleman who alone has the right to appoint and depose United States commissioners in this part of the woods, over nny other United States judge. As a matter of courtesy Judge Pardee has al ways allowed Judge Newman to do the appointing of the commissioners for the Northern district of Georgia, and Judge

Newman has made it a custom to allow the United States district attorney, Colonel Joe James in this instance, to recommend the appointment of the commissioner, and the removal.

The appeal of Commissioner Crawford to Judge Pardee, who is a republican, amounted to a refusal to resign, and an intimation that he would like to remain in office as a United States commissioner Judge Pardee took up Crawford's fight in a mild way, and suggested to the dis trict attorney that if he had any charges to prefer against the commissioner that then was a good time to do so. There was also a suggestion made by the judge that offensive partisanship was a good ground for a removal. In the face of the advice and suggestions of Judge Pardee, the district attorney deemed it the better part of wisdom to "lay low" and say nothing. But those who are acquainted with Dis-trict Attorney James might have told you that he would have Crawford fired sooner or later. It is understood that Colonel James racked his brain for some excuse to rid the country of Commissioner Crawford's services. A happy thought, suggested by the stopping of the elevator probably, entered the colonel's mind, and it wasn't long before he put it in operation.

it wasn't long before he put it in operation. The elevator had been stopped in order that the government might economize.

And the district attorney saw another means of cutting down the government's expenses; there was no need of a commissioner at Morganton. To keep one there was a useless expense. So the removal of Commissioner Boone Crawford was put upon the grounds of "not needed." The mandate of the court will go into effect mandate of the court will go into effect the 1st day of September.

This, of course, Judge Pardee does not

Mr. W. C. Carter, clerk of the United States court, wes also made a commissioner yesterday while Judge Newman had his hand in. Mr. Carter will use his office merely for the purpose of approving bonds. He will insist, however, upon being addressed as "Judge" Carter.

Although Judge Newman was holding court yesterday as both circuit and district judge, he did not appoint a successor to Judge Haight. There appears to be some complications about, and the judge deferred tackling it until in October. It can be stated with certainty, however, that Judge Newman, when he makes the appointment, will appoint an Atlanta man.

Court adjourned yesterday afernoon until the regular term and Judge Newman will return at once to Shadwell, Va., where he is spending his vacation.

AT THE EDGEWOOD.

Another Large and Cultured Audience Lis-tened to "Nanon" Last Night.

"Nanon" unquestionably is one of the pret-tiest comic operas ever heard in the south.
Hearing the work one time no fair estimate of the beauty of the opera can be given. There of the beauty of the opera can be given. There is so much in the composition in a musical way which pleases that it is hard to express your preference for any particular air. The ensemble numbers are most agreeably sung, while the solos are musical morsels. The waltz song, sung by Mr. Apple, had to be repeated several times. The country burlesque German was a big take off and created an unusual amount of merriment. The manner in which Miss Dressler introduces a real live pig is something not down on the bill, but it is attractive and odd just the same. Miss Pierce sang "I Love But You" in a highly creditable manner.

The opera is well yorth going to see. It is amusing and interesting from first to lass and that is what you want these bot times.

Will at Last Have to Give Up His Com- Two Clever Young Atlantians Left Chat- Shows a Decided Lack of Rain in All tanooga Monday Afternoon.

NOW, WHERE ARE THEY "AT P"

Several People Are Asking, Among Them the Owner of the New Bikes and an Atlanta Firm.

Lint & Lovelace, the wholesale produce men and one or two business firms of Chat tanooga, would like to know the identity of two well dressed and smooth talking young men who rode out of the Tennessee city on brand new bikes early Monday.

Particularly would the man to whom the brand new bikes belong like to know who the young men are and where they are just at present. The story of how the two young men got out of Chattanoo ga with two new wheels, after working several business firms in a queer way is slick enough to be lubricated with sweet oil. The police of several southern citie have their weather eyes open for the young men now.

Three or four days ago two well dressed. well educated and made-up-to-date young men appeared in Chattanooga, and stated that they were in the interest of Lint & Levelace, the wholesale produce men of this city. As Atlantians well know Lint & Lovelace are among the leading produce men of Atlanta and are well known in Chattanooga and other southern cities, where their credit is without a flaw. It was a good recommendation for the young men that they were connected with such firm and the business men of Chattanoo ga received them cordially.

Of course no one suspected that the men were not what they pretended to be. Not suspicion against the genuineness of the two men was ever entertained. They carried business cards bearing the name of the firm they claimed to represent and stamped on the cards were their own names which they gave as Stafford and Bryant. The two are said to have made several contracts as the representatives of the Atlanta produce men, and the men with whom these contracts were made are now on the warpath after the scalps of the

Monday afternoon the young men went to the house of Ashford & Co., wholesale dealers in produce, and presenting the card of Lint & Lovelace, said they were in Chattanooga buying goods for their firm. They readily enter-tained the young men and ended by sell-ing Stafford 160 pounds of butter and 360

The goods were shipped here C. O. D., reaching the express office yesterday morning. Lint & Lovelace were astonished when they received notice that they had such a shipment of goods by express and immediately wired inquiries to Ashford & Co. The wires were kept but until wester. Co. The wires were kept hot until yester day afternoon, and when the matter was fully explained Mr. Lint wired to Chatta nooga saying that he knew neither of the two men and wanted them arrested at once. He refused to accept the goods that had been shipped him, and they were turned over to Mr. W. T. Ashford, a relative of members of the Chattanooga firm for disposition.

Ashford & Co. suspected nothing wrong

Ashford & Co. suspected nothing wrong with the two young men until they read the Chattanooga papers yesterday morning. The Times told a story about the two young fellows that made the Ashfords open their eyes. It appears from The Times's story that the two young men went to the store of McKee & Campbell on West Eighth street, and said they wanted to buy a new bicycle each. They were shown two fine ones, graceful and swift to buy a new bicycle each. They were shown two fine ones, graceful and switt beauties for $150 each, and they took them out to try them. They did not return, so The Times says, and the matter was placed in the hands of the police. It was in this condition when the telegraphic communications passed between the Atlanta and Chattanooga firms yesterday. Telegrams have been sent to several either exists for chattanooga arms yesterday. Telegrams have been sent to several cities asking for the arrest of the two men. It is believed that they are former Atlantians and every effort is being made to discover who they are. The Atlanta firm wants them and the higgel form in Chattanooga would like ele firm in Chattanooga would like to see them.

tin, for the Christian church, was also very successful, and hundreds were brought into the church.

About ten days ago another revival was begun. It is held in a large tent on Harrison avenue, near Peachtree, in North Atlanta, and is being conducted by Rev. E. M. Stratton and Rev. Mr. Little, the missionaries or evangelists attached to the North Georgia conference of the Methodist church. Its chief purpose is to build up the Methodist denomination in that part of the city, especially in connection with the mission Sanday school, near there, belonging to the First Methodist church, of which Mr. James Logan has, for some time, been superintendent.

Two services are held daily, one at 3:30 o'clock p. m. and one at 8 o'clock in the evening. The tent will seat about 1,500 and the attendance has been very large.

Much interest is being manifested and the attendance is now much larger than ever, and great good is being done. The meetings will continue for some time.

and great good is being done. The meetings will continue for some time.

Those in charge invite the ministers and Christian workers of all denominations to come out and assist in the work, as its object is not sectarian advancement so much as the spreading of Christianity.

Gardens are badly injured from the want of moisture. As a rule corn is in better condition than last year and a full crop is looked for. It is iaid by on most farms and is nearly out of danger, but ought to have another good rain. Cotton has improved under the action of a hot suu and, while remaining some days late, is in healthy condition. The crop is well cleaned up. The wheat crop is being threshed and the grain is of good quality, but the yield is proving less than was anticipated. Fruit is falling rapidly and the crop will be light. Melons have been injured by the dry weather and the yield will be short. There is a good crop of small berries. In the northern counties wheat, oats and rye have been cut and are being threshed. A fair yield is reported from most points. Upland corn has been laid by and is now beginning to feel the effect of the drought. Corn on bottoms has yet to receive its last working and so far has shown little injury from lack of moisture. The condition of cotton has improved during the heated days of the past week. As yet it has not been injured at all by want of rain and is reported as looking fine at many points. The plant is putting on fruit rapidly. Melona and vegetables are most damaged and need rain badly. The dry weather has enabled samers to push their work and the crops are being rapidly cleaned up. Clder-making is in progress and a good crop of berries is being picked. Potatoes are nearly dried up.

From correspondents in the northeast section are received many complaints of a deficiency of rainfall and an excess of heat during the past week. These conditions have, as yet, caused no serious damage to crops, but, sfeared that corn, cotton and other crops will suffer considerably. Corn, although generally in some localities. Farmers have taken advantage of the dry and pleasant weather and grass has been almost entirely cleaned out of their corn and cotton fields. Cotton has continued to abundant supply are still excellent. The hot sun has been an advantage to grapes, checking rot and causing a more rapid growth of the fruit.

In the western section of Georgia a period more beneficial to cotton than the past week could hardly be expected. The weather was just what was most desired, the very hot days enabling farmers, by hard work and close attention, to kill out the grass, besides making cotton thrive, as it always does in scorching hot weather when not needing rain. Though cotton is greatly improved during the last few weeks, its size is much smaller than is generally the case at this time of the year. The condition of corn at present is only fair, as this crop is beginning to need rain badly, especially on uplands. The rainfail during the past week was very little and then only scattered over very small areas. This, together with the hot weather, is curling un the blades on corn and preventing a rapid growth. Wheat has been all harvested, and reports from several localities where it has been threshed are that the yield is considerably above the average. Sugarcane is growing very well this year. Gardens have done very well so far, but at present rain is very much needed. Melons are not doing so well as usual, neither are apples and peaches.

In the central counties of the state most of the crops have suffered from the hot weather during the past week. The rain, which was very badly distributed, fell in scattered showers. In some places plenty of rain fell, but the rainfail over the greater portion of the land was very light and the ground was soon dried again by the hot sun. Bottomland corn is doing better since the dry weather has set in, but corn on uplands and on sandy soil is suffering from lack of moisture. Sugarcane and sweet potatoes are in good condition. Fruit is still reported to be falling from the trees. Peaches have rotted considerably on old trees in some orchards. The shipment of peaches is at its height. The crop is short. Grapes are rotting.

Most planters of the eastern secti have made an excellent crop. Gardens are flourishing but some rain would cause a decided improvement.

The past week in southwest Georgia has been a hot one. In most localities crops have improved but in some places it has been too dev. In others too wet. Heavy rains would fall in one portion of a county and in another portion of the same county little or no rain would fall. Cotton is only doing fairly well and not even that in wet places, as the rank growth of grass on wet lands cannot be easily killed. Farmers have been very busy in killing out the troublesome grass. Corn is doing very well excent where in the grass and on light sandy soil where little or no rain fell during the week; on these lands it is firing badly. Cane, rice, peanuts and potatoes are generally growing very well. Large quantifies of peas were planted on most plantations this year and look very promising. Pear shipping is in full "blast," while melon shipments are becoming lighter. The fruit crop on the whole is pretty fair, althouch in some localities peaches have rotted badly.

Georgia's southern counties have been the most favored ones in the state for rainfall during the past week. It came in copious, but scattered showers, and was very beneficial to alli vegytation. Crops are locking ins and are in excellent condition all over the section. Groundpeas, sugarcane, watermelous and rice are in fine condition. Fruit is not so good as expected. Cotton and corn were slightly injured by heavy rains in a few places, where it has also been too wet for slips, peas and chufas.

From the southeast section favorable reports continue to come, not, however, as good chufas.

From the southeast section favorable reports continue to come, not, however, as good as last week. Recent rainfall has been in ill-distributed showers and while some districts have had abundant moisture, others are very dry. The chief causes of complaint are a tendency in cotton to the shedding of its leaves and forms and a falling of fruit from the trees. Nearly all cora is laid by and is in excellent condition. At very few points has corn or cotton fired. In the coast counties both crops are superior to those of last year. Potatoes are doing well. The melou crop has been good in this section. Shipping is well advanced. Peas are still being sown and the crop is in fair condition. Fruit is not in the best condition. It is rotting somewhat and consderable is falling from the trees. The dry and sunshing weather has given a good opportunity to clean out grass and crops are generally in good shape.

HOLLINGSWORTH

Secured His Release Yesterday on Bond for $2,500.

THE ORDINARIES MEET HERE TODAY.

A Number of Mortgages Were Filed Yesterday in Favor of F. and M. Ken-ny's Creditors-Notes.

Ed Hollingsworth, charged with being n accessory to Dr. Gardner in a crimina performed upon a young girl, gave ond yesterday in the sum of $2,500. The reason that Hollingsworth was allowed to give bond was because he has married the unfortunate girl who was the victim of Hollingsworth and Dr. Gardner, and, as his wife, she cannot testify against

The bond was fixed at $2,500 by Judge Richard Clark, upon the representation of the detectives that worked the case up against the two men. Hollingsworth will, of course, be a valuable witness against Dr. Gardner. The bond was signed by several parties, the most responsible being Dr. C. E. Murphy, of the fourth ward.

The criminal operation was performed in order that the young girl's sad condition might not be revealed, and the result was something unexpected to all the parties oncerned, as Dr. Gardner was arrested and along with him young Hollingsworth, on the charge already stated. During the time that Hollingsworth has been in jail since the marriage, his faithful young wife in company with his has visited him, mother, every day.

Mortgages Filed Yesterday

Yesterday morning there were a number of chattel mortgages filed against F. M. Kenny & Son, wholesale grocery merchants. A mortgage of $3,000 was recorded in favor of M. & J. Hirsch, on a piece of real estate, and the following chattel mortgage

J. H. Andrews, $310; Arbuckle & Bro., $395; T. M. St. Clair & Co., $1,270; S. P. Parks, $200; A. Haas & Co., $220; Cudahy Packing Company, $135; Lowry Banking Company, $5,900, and R., H., Moomaugh, $115

Mrs. Nannie L. Killian Flles a Snit. Mrs. Nannie L. Killian filed a suit yester day against T. S. Irby, Charles Eckford and George W. Brown. The petitioner alleges that her husband, D A. Killian, debted to the Atlanta Carriage Hardware Company in the sum of $1,000, and that she consented to sell certain property of hers in order to satisfy the debt. All tihs was with the provision that she would be enabled to secure a return of some hundred dollars by the sale. The property was bought by T. S. Irby, who gave his check for $500 and two notes for something over $500 each. Mrs. Killian alleges, further, that the check was worthless, and that the notes have never been paid. She now wants the deed in escrow withdrawn, and to have the parties named in her petition from disposing of the property. with the provision that she would be enable

The Traction Company Case.

The hearing of the bill of injunction against the Atlanta Traction Company, which was set for yesterday morning before Judge Richard Clark, did not take place, as all the defendants had not been served by the sheriff. The case was reset for a hearing on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The Ordinaries Will Meet. Today, at noon, the convention of Georgia's ordinaries will take place in the superior courtroom. It has, as yet, not been decided just who will preside over the meeting until it can be regularly organized, and no one seems to know just what reforms will be suggested. The attendance will reach seventy-five, or more.
